

Eden Gates Cafe & Emporium is here to be the one stop shop for those looking to thrift second hand curated closets, support local independent vendors by purchasing handmade trinkets or just in need of a space to breath.

It could look something like this:

Reading a book in the sun with one of the Cafe's cats cuddled up next to your leg as you sip a freshly brewed Honey Lavender Oat Milk Latte and nibble on homemade Banana Nut Bread. People are peacefully walking about the space, taking in the walls of various books, plants and trinkets. Relaxing jazz music is playing in the background and outside on the patio, people are just starting to show up for the clothing sale going on in the garden. Birds are chirping, a small pond is burbling. People are collecting bundles of herbs from the garden beds.

About Eden's Cafe:

Eden Gates Cafe & Emporium is based around the principal of community. We strive to connect community members through like-minded interests and passions.

Support local student/independent vendors in their craft, take time to breath and connect with the Earth in the garden, join in on sustainable home-decor crafts, participate in weekly Eden's After Dark Art & Crafts, purchase or exchange second hand clothing.

Eden's Cafe is a safe space. We see, encourage and empower queer, Indigenous, BIPOC and minority voices within the community.
